

Douglas Tardio

Douglas Tardio is the Vice-Chair of the Bluffton Public Development Board as well as the President and Chief Operating Officer of CareCore National, LLC; the largest employer in Bluffton.

Tardio is responsible for driving CareCore National's mission of delivering innovative technology-driven healthcare solutions to health plans, self-insured employers and healthcare delivery systems. For more than a decade, Tardio has directed and managed CareCore National's expansion from a regional radiology benefit manager to a national healthcare company.

CareCore now manages more than 35 million insured through its clients. Before joining CareCore, Tardio held various positions with Aetna, Oxford Health Plans and America's Health Plan.

Tardio received a degree in economics from Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia.
